

Change in deer licence system rejected by county

Haliburton County Council has rejected a suggestion from Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison which would have seen a major change in the way antlerless deer hunting permits are issued. The matter was raised at the November 18 meeting of the council.

Harrison suggested that rather than allowing the present selection by lot used for assigning the coveted antlerless permits, the Ministry of Natural Resources assign one permit to each organized hunt camp. The reeve noted that many camps in the area were without antlerless permits and that this greatly reduced the success rate in the various camps. Some camps have up to 25 hunters in them.

Under the present system the Ministry determines the number of antlerless deer (does) which should be harvested in a particular area.

Hunters are advised to apply for the special permit which allows them to kill both bucks and does. However, since there are always more applications than special permits, the licences are assigned by the drawing of lots. Those who do not receive the antlerless permits may still take part in the hunt, but can only shoot deer with antlers (bucks).

Under the system suggested by Reeve Harrison, a certain number of antlerless deer permits would be set aside for hunt camps in a particular area. He emphasised these would be organised camps with a minimum of eight hunters.

Harrison said that since some camps did not have the special permits this season, they were not opened. He suggested that assigning one licence to each camp would help boost the tourist economy.

The reeve suggested that the individual who is to be the holder of the licence could be decided through a draw within the camp, but that at least each organised camp which applied for it and met the requirements would have one licence.

Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick disagreed with the proposal. He suggested that such a system would ensure that all antlerless deer licences would go to hunters he described as "outsiders". "I'm not in favour of organised gangs hunting," the reeve said. He suggested that local hunters had a better chance of getting an antlerless deer hunting permit if they applied from Ottawa than if they made an application locally.

Deputy Reeve Carman Coumbs of Monmouth Township said the system suggested by Reeve Harrison

Joe and Pete Dollo were recently honoured by the Independent Grocers Association for their 25 year affiliation with the organization. The brothers received plaques marking the occasion. However, their association with the grocery store business in Minden goes back more than 25 years. They opened their first store here shortly after the war and have continued to grow with the community. For more on the success of the Dollo's in Minden, turn to the story on page five.

Registered Nurses sign contract at Hyland Crest

An agreement has been signed with Registered Nurses and Hyland Crest in Minden and the board of management for the home. Details of the agreement were released Wednesday at the monthly meeting of Haliburton county council.

The 18 month contract, which covers 6 part-time and full time RNs, will provide pay increases which are retroactive to June 22. Starting full-time nurses on that date will receive $1680 per month's tour. This will increase to $1750 October 1 and $1900 April 1, 1982. These rates are for nurses just starting with the home. A grid system, which provides for length of service increases up to seven years, was also approved with the contract.

Part-time nurses will be paid according to a formula based on the rates established for the full-time nurses.

Other points contained in the pact signed late last month include a 35¢ shift premium, a special allowance for nurses who are acting in place of the director of nursing, semi-private Blue Cross coverage and inclusion in the Ontario public employees retirement plan, additional pay for overtime on a premium day, five weeks vacation after 15 years of service, payment for unused sick days on retirement up to a maximum of 110 days, a reduction in the probation period from 65 to 60 days and several other matters.

The contract terms, which had been agreed to following conciliation, bring the local nurses closer in line with the packages being offered in other parts of the province.

Six charged in cottage break-ins

Six people from the West Guilford area have been charged with break and enter following an investigation by Minden O.P.P. The charges relate to 17 cottage break-ins in the Coleman, Bitter and Kennis Lake area of the county.

The charges were laid last week. Over $5000 in stolen property was recovered by the police.

Charged with 12 counts of break and enter were Kim N. Barry, 19; Terry D. Griffin, 17; and Gerry Barry, aged 18. Charged with five counts each were Brian H. Griffin, 19; and Michael K. Sisson, 25. Four counts of break and enter were also laid against Stephen R. Henderson, 17.

The charges stem from the break-ins which police say took place over an extended period of time. The investigating officer is Constable Al Bibby.

Under investigation

A break-in in the south end of Lutterworth Township is currently under investigation by Minden O.P.P. The incident, which took place at a house on Highway 121 just north of Kinmount, was reported November 17.

The home of Shirley Vank was broken into and items valued at $1140 were taken including a television set, two antique clocks and a BB gun. The theft was reported by Robert Bailey.

The intruders gained access to the home by breaking a window.

Constable Jim Solway is investigating the incident.

Members asked to consider new status for county

Members of the various municipal councils in Haliburton County are being asked to consider changes in the status of the county council which could affect the number of members at the table and the number of votes each municipality controls. The matters were brought to the council's attention by Warden Murray Fearrey who was chairing his last meeting as head of the county.

Earlier this year the council had agreed to have the planning committee examine a number of options open to the council. Among those being considered was a change from provisional status to just a county or possibly a district.

The warden pointed out that the 'provisional' title was applied to the county when it was formed because it did not have the population to warrant the full county status. At that time, the counties were expected to provide their own judicial system, however, since the population was so low, the justice system in Haliburton was tied to Victoria County to the south. Hence, the 'provisional' addition.

Fearrey pointed out that in 1968 the province took over all responsibility for judicial administration in the province so the reason for the provisional status no longer existed. He also pointed out that the population of the county had grown to the point where there were enough residents to support a county system.

He noted however, that at least two areas of concern exist if the status of the county is to be changed. The first was the existence of the Improvement District of Bicroft. The warden said that no other county in Ontario included an improvement district. The second is the status of two townships, Laverne and Nightingale. Both are part of Algonquin Park, but the province has apparently not compensated the county for them. It was suggested that these townships might become part of the Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone municipality in the northwest corner of the county.

The warden pointed out that there would be no loss of grants or provincial financing if the county decided to change its status. As well there would be no increase in provincial support.

"There might be some who attach historical importance to the 'provisional' aspect of the county's name," the warden commented.

Fearrey also reviewed some of the implications for the county if the councillors decided to opt for the district status. He noted that some responsibilities which now belong to the municipalities would fall to the district government if the change was made. As an example he cited pollution control as one area where the municipalities would no longer have a say.

"If, for example, the decision was made to construct a sewage treatment facility to serve the community of Wilberforce," the warden explained, "it would be the responsibility of the district government to raise the funds for the project, build and operate it." He suggested there might be objections from some part of the county to contributing money for such a project.

Representation

Emphasizing that he was mentioning these ideas to stimulate debate and consideration of the existing situation, the warden also noted they could consider

Letters to be received before Dec. 15.

Citizens voice their concerns

Over 40 residents of the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden were on hand Friday evening to quiz the members of the township council on their performance to date. The two hour session, held at the community centre, was attended by all members of the council with Jim Garbutt acting as the master of ceremonies.

The citizens aired their complaints about the new zoning by-law, which the municipality is expected to present for approval next year. Included in these concerns was the impact of the hazard zone designation for shoreline property to "Recreational Residential".

The objections to the hazard zone designation centred on the possibility that development in the area could be stopped, that existing property will be greatly devalued and that the province had no basis in history for the concern. The council has indicated its plans to proceed with the by-law without the engineering study which has been requested by the Ministry of Natural Resources. A campaign of soliciting the support of those in the hazard area is currently underway with the municipality requesting that letters of objection be submitted to the township office for presentation to the provincial authorities. (A letter written by a speaker at the Friday evening meeting, Phil Graham, appears on page four of this edition of the paper.)

changing the number of members who form the county council.

At the moment the council consists of 19 members, the reeve and deputy reeve from each of the nine townships plus the chairman of the Improvement District of Bicroft. Through a distribution of votes based on population, there are 29 votes allocated to the 19 members.

Under provisions of the Municipal Act, the council could be reduced to just ten members, the nine Reeves and representative from Bicroft. As well, the system of weighting votes would be revised so that Dysart et al would have four, Anson, Hindon and Minden three, Glamorgan, Lutterworth, Stanhope and Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone all two votes each and the remaining townships a single vote each.

The warden suggested that while there had been no conflict under the present system, the revised distribution would more fairly represent the resources and tax contributions to the county's operation. He likened the situation to a shareholder in a large corporation who, though he contributes 25% of the wealth of the company, only controlled 5% of the votes. He suggested the council should attempt to strike a fairer balance.

Fearrey emphasised that the council was in control of its own destiny and that all, part or none of the options available could be selected by the group. He suggested however, that the members of the council give the matter serious thought and that the new warden, who will be sworn in next month, poll the members to ascertain how they felt about the matter.

Several opinions were voiced by members of the council Wednesday morning. Reeve Keith Tallman of Monmouth Township said he was not in favour of reducing the size of the council. He said it would be difficult for the deputy Reeves to replace their Reeves if required since they would be unaware of the activities of the council.

Deputy Reeve Glynne Lewis, of Lutterworth Township, stated that a small council would mean that decisions could be reached more quickly. He suggested that the larger group resulted in more discussion and that the Reeves should keep their councils informed on county council activities so that they could substitute for the reeve when necessary.

Before the discussion ended, Murray Fearrey pointed out that a reduction in council members would mean the remaining Reeves would have to be involved in more committees, a situation which those who are employed might find impossible.

First snowfall takes its toll

The first heavy snowfall of the winter took its toll in accidents this past week. Three mishaps were directly related to the accumulation of slush on the roadway Friday.

The first occurred at 10:30 in the morning when Heather Poppé, 39, of Tory Hill was travelling on Highway 121 just north of Haliburton. She lost control of her vehicle and it spun out of control, leaving the roadway and striking a rock. Damage was estimated at $1600.

The second mishap took place at 5 p.m. Robert W. Mann, 40, of Stanhope Township lost control of his vehicle on Highway 519 west of Haliburton. The vehicle, a 1969 Pontiac skidded on the slick pavement and rammed into a rock cut causing $2000 damage. The driver was uninjured.

Constable Boyd Jarvis of the Minden OPP investigated both accidents.

The third winter mishap took place on Highway 35 north of Carnarvon at 6:45 Friday evening. William D. MacAdam of Stanhope Township lost control of his 1975 Ford and it skidded across the road, into the ditch and rolled over. Damage in this mishap was estimated at $3000.

Constable Al Barnes investigated.

Van burns

A vehicle was destroyed by flames shortly after noon on Friday on Highway 503 east of Kinmount.

Rudolph Faulhaber, 58, of Snowdon Township was the driver of a 1976 Chevrolet van. According to police, flames erupted from some wiring in the interior of the vehicle while it was being driven. The driver was able to steer the truck to the side of the road and jump clear before the entire truck was engulfed in flames.

The van was valued at $5500. It was destroyed.

Investigation of the incident was carried out by Constable Mike Smith.

Appeal launched

A formal appeal has been lodged with the Canadian Transport Commission (CTC) regarding the closure of the CNR line between Lindsay and Haliburton. County Warden Murray Fearrey, informed the county council of the move at the group's meeting Wednesday.

The Warden said the appeal had been filed by the road committee in Lindsay, but the action would give all those concerned time to continue the fight against the abandonment. Fearrey said the appeal was filed in an effort to "buy time", perhaps to allow the joint Haliburton-Victoria Railway Retention Committee an opportunity to negotiate with CNR over the closure.

According to the warden the appeal was based on the fact that all aspects of the future need for the rail line were not explored at the time of the hearing.

Hunt camps

would mean that each hunter in a camp would have two chances of obtaining an antlerless permit. "I'm not saying it would happen, but it would be possible for an eight-man hunt camp to end up with nine antlerless permits," Coumbs commented.

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone Reeve Fred Baum pointed out that in some jurisdictions, when a camp applies for a permit, it means all the hunters are not eligible to apply individually. He noted this eliminated the possibility of a hunter getting more than one permit.

However, the suggestion did not draw enough support from the councillors and the matter was defeated.

A good idea

Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison offered a reasonable change to present methods of assigning deer hunting licences at last Wednesday's County Council meeting. It is unfortunate his fellow councillors voted to reject the proposal.

At the moment the Ministry of Natural Resources assigns a certain number of permits to this area for the taking of antlerless deer. Hunters wishing to acquire one of these permits must submit an application. All the requests for a specific area are pooled and a selection by lot decides which hunters will receive these special permits.

Reeve Harrison has suggested that organized hunt camps, of eight hunters or more, should receive one antlerless deer permit if they apply for it. The remaining permits would be distributed in the usual draw method.

The suggestion has merit. Many of the camps this year did not have one antlerless deer hunting permit, even though some camps cater to over 20 hunters. That situation can be very discouraging for the hunters, and eventually will have a detrimental impact on the popularity of this area for deer hunting as Harrison has suggested.

One member of the council pointed out that this method of assigning permits could result in hunters having more than one chance to obtain a permit. This situation could be eliminated easily by ensuring that the hunters who plan to be part of a hunt camp are listed with that camp's application. These hunters would then be ineligible for the individual draw, if a special licence was assigned to their camp.

The present system of antlerless deer licences is a good method of controlling the deer harvest and maintaining the size of the deer herd. However, even though the County Council did not back the suggestion, we feel the Ministry of Natural Resources should reconsider the process of assigning the antlerless deer permits to allow a certain number to be assigned directly to recognized hunt camps.

Editor:

I must express my concern regarding the intrusion of Government Agencies and the designation of the Gull River Valley in the vicinity of Minden, as a flood plain and therefore a hazard zone.

I am in no way concerned about flooding. I am very concerned about the side effects of the area being designated a hazard zone. The net result of this would be a devaluation of property and an end to future development. If property is devalued then the taxes must be lowered, progress and maintenance stops and the area goes into a complete decline.

Consider that there have been people living in this valley for the past 100 years and more. Granted there have been floods and high water, but no loss of life, no buildings washed away and relatively little property damage except flooded basements. Is there any reason for this pattern to change drastically? I doubt it.

We have had two fairly damaging hurricanes pass over the area in the last thirty years, and the maximum rainfall in these, was five inches of rain. There was no flooding as such from either of these, high water, but no serious flooding. It appears the only time we get flooding is from questionable management by the Trent Severn water authority: stop logs installed too early in the spring, lakes filled to capacity and no reserve space left for emergency in case of extra run-off or rain.

Why all the concern about flooding? We should be far more concerned about earthquakes, hurricanes and especially tornadoes, one of the most damaging acts of nature which can strike and wipe out an area in five minutes. I don't hear these people being concerned in this direction. Maybe they just picked "flooding" out of a hat.

If this particular area is being designated a hazard zone, then why not the whole river system from Minden to Lake Ontario via its route namely, Norland, Cobocok, Fenelon Falls, Peterborough, Rice Lake, Campbellford and Trenton to name a few places, same water, same situation?

Please do not spend good money on a useless survey. Any resident of the past thirty or forty years can clearly define the high water marks and likely produce pictures to prove it. I can. This survey has been mentioned as costing $10,000. Theoretically, we would only pay 10% or $1000. Where does the other $9000 come from? Same place, taxes, so we are paying for it all in the end. Bear in mind Minden has already been called a "hinterland", is this latest "hazard zone" scheme the next step, by undermining forces to downgrade the area and build up others. Worth thinking about. Perhaps we should use that $10,000 in a survey to find out who is really behind all this.

I would urge the Reeve, members of council, and all citizens of Minden to fight this latest menace with every force available. It's far better to fight now than to have nothing left worth fighting for.

P. M. Graham,
Minden.

Editor:

With reference to your editorial of Wednesday, October 28th, I am indignant and incensed at your remark that the council should ignore the request that the revised zoning by-law be postponed until next spring or summer in order that the seasonal property owners may evaluate and contribute to its final draft. Furthermore, you stated that "it should not be delayed what could be seven or more months simply to hear the thoughts on non-resident ratepayers who could not be bothered to make the trip to Minden last Saturday."

It is my impression that "ignoring" the majority of ratepayers is exactly the council's purpose in holding an important meeting like this at a time when they perfectly well know that most cottagers will be absent. Why not hold meetings of this magnitude between Victoria Day and Thanksgiving?

Furthermore, many more people would have attended if they had had any prior knowledge of it. Although I am a subscriber to THE TIMES for this very reason, my copy in which above was advertised arrived after the meeting.

Obviously, even though one is vitally interested in municipal affairs, it seems that our important rights can not be exercised if we are ignorant, through no fault of our own, of council's agenda.

It seems to me that these public meetings should be well advertised, at least 3 or 4 weeks in advance, and perhaps the individual presidents of all lake associations could be notified by mail or phone, so that they in turn can inform their memberships of impending meetings.

This would surely lead to more democratic dispensation of justice, would alleviate future misunderstandings, and help to solve our mutual problems in a more harmonious way.

Tim Koivusalo,
Bat Lake Ratepayers
Association,
Toronto.

Editor's note: Advertisements advising of the October 25 meeting were placed by the municipality in the October 7 and 14 editions of THE TIMES. In addition, the October 21 edition of this newspaper contained a front page article and story on page three related to the zoning by-law as well as an editorial urging public participation in the meeting.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

For most of Ontario's Crown land, "multiple-use" is supposed to be the watchword for forest managers. According to the glowing rhetoric from the foresters and industry representatives, multiple-use means that wildlife, fisheries, canoeing, boating, trapping, tourism and other such "secondary" features of the landscape can co-exist with logging or mining. However, a recent policy shift by the Ministry of Natural Resources confirms that the multiple-use philosophy, while always questionable, is now an empty shell, designed only to provide a convenient public relations front for the forest industry.

Half-a-million acres of northern Ontario are harvested each year, mostly in large clearcuts. Traditionally, cutting plans specified "reserves" along roadsides, lakeshores, streams, and swamps, providing a buffer of at least a few hundred feet from the effects of logging. These reserves screen some of the aesthetic impact of clear-cutting from canoe routes or roadways, and help to filter out eroded sediments which could damage the fisheries of adjacent streams. More importantly, reserves protect the most important wildlife habitats in the boreal forest, for it is at the edge of water-courses that most wildlife abound, whether mink or moose, weasel or wolf, beaver or bullfrog.

The new MNR policy declares that these protection reserves should not be considered "untouchable timber preserves". (In other words, they should be cut). On small lakes and most streams, reserves will be abolished altogether. Beside major highways or large lakes, the trees may be cut in blocks or patches over a few years, to aid in the regeneration of cut areas. However, it is clear from the tone of the policy that very few buffer strips will be left intact, and that even the minimal attempts of the past to encourage more than one use of an area under timber licence have been abandoned.

The reason given for this change in policy is the shortage of wood supplies, a direct result of poor harvesting practices and failure to

Dollo brothers started with a truck and a 10 foot wide store

Pete and Joe Dollo were born to be employed in the grocery trade. After all, what other profession could they chose when they were born in a small apartment over the fruit store operated by their parents in Toronto.

That association with the grocery trade, which began many years ago in Toronto, continues today in Minden. Pete and Joe Dollo were honoured this year by the Independent Grocers Association for their 25 years of service to the community under the I.G.A. banner. The event was marked with a dinner in Toronto and the presentation of plaques to each brother.

While their association with the grocery business stretches back to their formative years, it wasn't until after World War Two that they brought their expertise to the Minden area.

"In 1946 I had been discharged from the air force and Pete was getting out of the army," Joe recalled, "when we decided to try the business here." In addition to working for their parents in Toronto, Joe had been the manager of a large grocery store in Toronto prior to the war.

"We pooled the clothing allowance which we received when being discharged from the service, and bought a truck," Joe remembers. The brothers established a fruit and vegetable wholesaling service between the Haliburton Highlands and Toronto in 1946. Their clients included the grocery stores in the area and a number of the lodges which were operating in the area.

"It was no easy task in those days to make the round trip. Often we'd have to leave here at 2 o'clock in the morning to get to the wholesale market in Toronto on time and then hurry back to sell the produce to the stores. We'd still be working at 8 o'clock in the evening," Joe recalled, noting that another 2 a.m. start awaited them the next day.

They continued to offer the wholesale service for the next 12 years. Late in 1946, the Dollo brothers expanded their business, however, to include retail as well as wholesale activities. They opened their first store on Minden's Main Street.

The store was opened where Coneybeare's Butcher Shop is now located. It was a modest effort, to say the least. It measured 10 feet wide by 30 feet deep.

Pete Dollo describes the premises as "small". He recalls, "Customers would often have to wait outside until one shopper had left before going inside". Despite the limited space, the store opened with a staff of five and, if it wasn't a customer who had to wait to get in, it was a staff member who was forced to stand outside to give the shoppers room to move.

The retail outlet carried not only fruits and vegetables, but a grocery line as well.

The business prospered and, in 1956 the Dollo Brothers built a new outlet across the street. Located where Cox's Apparel is now situated, the selection was greatly expanded as was the service to the many loyal customers. Shoppers at the new location were not without help from the staff as there were 36 employees on the payroll when the new store opened.

The second Dollo Brothers' food market, on Main Street where Cox's Apparel is now located.

The business was officially opened in May of 1956 and at that time the brothers received their I.G.A. franchise and became part of the network of grocery stores across Ontario serviced by the Oshawa Wholesale Group.

In 1968 another move was in order as the facilities had outgrown the volume of business. At that time the brothers decided to build the present store, located on Main Street, closer to the south entrance to the community. The store now has a staff of 23.

In 1975 Joe retired from the operation of the grocery store but his brother Pete continues as manager of the I.G.A. Both are familiar figures in the community and are particularly at home welcoming old friends and clients at the store.

The Dollo grocery store tradition continues as Pete's son David takes an active hand in the operation of the store. Joe's son, Joe Junior, is also involved with the retail grocery trade, working at the Minden Red and White store.

Many changes have taken place in the grocery business since the Dollo brothers started with their truck and ten foot wide store in 1946. Both Pete and Joe agree that it has been rewarding and satisfying to serve the public for that length of time.

Three years wasted

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

A year ago, the then provincial Minister of the Environment declared that a $60 million waste treatment site would be built on government-owned land at South Cayuga, notwithstanding strong protests from the Opposition, local residents and environmental groups.

Now the Ontario Waste Management Corporation has abandoned the South Cayuga site, based on a new study which found it to be only marginally suitable. The cost of the delay to the taxpayers and South Cayuga residents adds up to almost $100,000, according to estimates obtained from various groups.

Also, Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has emphasised that the delay in rejecting the site means that a year has been wasted. However, the Minister of the Environment insists that the delay has only been four or five months since much of the time was spent establishing the Waste Management Corporation which will operate whichever site is eventually chosen.

Suncor

One final attempt to obtain an opportunity for the Opposition to investigate the government's decision to buy 25 per cent of Suncor Inc. for $650 million has been blocked by Conservatives members, who voted down a Liberal motion to have the deal examined by the standing committee on general government.

Ever since the Premier announced the purchase, the opposition parties have attempted to obtain release of information to enable the Legislature to judge whether it is a good business deal. The Conservatives imposed closure when Liberal Leader Stuart Smith initiated a filibuster.

Subsequently, the Conservative caucus was given a private briefing on the deal, which sparked an emergency debate in the House as furious Opposition Members demanded the same information made available to the Tories. Dr. Smith accused the government of "abuse and contempt of the democratic process" when his final attempt to obtain the information in committee was thwarted.

At the time of the emergency debate, he said: "I find it a grievous matter when the government can spend $650 million of public money ... with no reference to the Legislature, and when we ask for information, not secret information, but just for basics, we are treated with contempt ... I feel the chagrin anyone who believes in democracy would feel when they learn a range of experts has been made available to the Tory backbenchers, but not to us."

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands

The community was certainly saddened last week when they learned of the passing of Gary Agnew in Wilberforce. Gary served the community in many capacities during his precious few years, most recently as Reeve and Deputy Reeve of the municipality of Monmouth. In 1977 he was honoured by the Chamber of Commerce when he was selected Highlander of the Year for his dedicated service to the community.

Gary's activities recently had been cut back severely due to his health, but he continued to fight bravely through several operations. It is somehow appropriate that this county, which he loved so dearly is now, through the Dialysis centres at Drag Lake and Dorset, providing some enjoyment to others whose activities were restricted as his were. May he now and forever rest in peace.

Winter here - but not in Queen's Park

Winter announced itself with certainty this weekend with the first layer of snow on the ground, hard frost at night, and the season's first hockey tournament held at Haliburton arena.

Unfortunately down at Queen's Park they are still fumbling around with trail grooming policy, not apparently realizing that the indecision is creating major organizational problems in snow country. The ministry has backed off, for this year only, to the position that they have budgeted 40% of last year's funding for one more year. What that means to individual clubs such as the ski and snowmobile clubs in Haliburton is still not definite. The suggestion is that some clubs, such as the ones based here, will still get a substantial grant while areas south of the snow belt may be cut-off entirely.

A ruling is still awaited on the charging of trail user fees on Crown land also. In areas such as the Dorset club's region there is virtually nothing but Crown land to operate on and there must be a method available to fund adequate grooming over it.

The H.C.S.A. has gone ahead with what they feel is the only option open to them if they are to provide adequate trails. They are taking the stand that their grooming and development efforts are for the benefit of members only - and you may become a member for either a season or a weekend. Weekend user passes are now included in their "Trail Booster" packages.

Whatever method the various clubs choose to fund their activities, and whatever decisions Queen's Park may finally come up with, we can be sure of one thing, this year is going to be a tough one for the clubs that groom and develop trails and we do urge the community that benefits to support them and co-operate in any way you can to help them make the necessary adjustments. Do you have some "Trail Booster Kits" on your counter?

Bed and breakfast

The Bed and Breakfast concept that has become so popular throughout Europe is making inroads into the North American Market. The traditional setting is a very large home where rooms may be set aside for the exclusive use of guests and their overnight rate includes breakfast. Here in the Highlands many of our resorts are also offering this type of rate.

A Stratford Association is presently compiling an "Ontario Bed and Breakfast Book" and have asked us to supply information on facilities in our area by early December. Anyone wishing to be listed in their publication should contact the Chamber at once.

Write your beefs about sales tax

The provincial sales tax of 7% is still scheduled to go back on accommodation at the end of December. With inflation running at 14% plus and next year's rates expected to follow suit, guests to our resorts can expect to be paying over 20% more for their vacations next year. The industry is healthy now, but it is questionable whether it can withstand this heavy an increase on its clientele.

Write your protests to the Honourable Frank Miller, Minister of Finance, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario.

Coming events

This Thursday the Minden Agriculture Society are holding their Annual Meeting at Minden Council Chambers at 8 p.m. This is the organization responsible for hosting, among other things, the Haliburton County Fair and we would urge everyone to turn out and be part of it.

This Saturday, November 28th, the H.C.S.A. are beginning their social season with a "Winter Warm-Up" Dance at the Minden Community

Centre commencing at 8:00 p.m. and at only $10.00 per couple. As mentioned earlier they need your support, and here's a great place to start. The Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts are beginning their annual Christmas Exhibition and Sale at the Rail's End Gallery in Haliburton this Friday and it runs through to December 19. The Gallery is open everyday but Monday during the sale and also on Friday evenings.

The annual Hodgson Memorial Bantam Hockey Tournament is scheduled for December 4, 5 and 6th at the Haliburton Arena with 16 teams from Ontario and the U.S. taking part. This event is co-sponsored by Haliburton Minor Hockey and the Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association.

Another tax-grab

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

One item in the recent federal budget that has attracted little if any attention from the average Canadian consumer is a provision whereby collection of federal sales taxes will be moved from the manufacturer to the wholesaler.

The government maintains that the new system will remove the competitive advantage enjoyed by importers of goods over Canadian manufacturers of similar products. However, there is more to it than appears on the surface.

While the government pretended to sweeten the pot by reducing the sales tax from nine per cent to eight per cent, the overall effect will be an increase in the retail price of consumer goods, and an increase in government tax revenues.

Under the present system, the tax is levied on the manufacturer's cost charged to the wholesaler. By shifting the collection of the tax to the wholesaler, and since the wholesaler's price to the retailer will have to include his mark-up, the result will be an increase in federal sales taxes by as much as 50 per cent.

The margin of profit enjoyed by wholesalers and retailers is not great enough for them to be able to absorb this increase, and so the end result will be an increase in consumer prices.

This will result in an increase in inflation, which is already at the 12.5 per cent level, but there will also be other injurious effects of this new policy.

The Retail Council of Canada points out that manufacturers are already geared up for the collection of sales taxes since they have been doing it up to now, whereas wholesalers will have to establish new and costly facilities for tax collection purposes.

These added costs and the additional paper burden, plus the higher sales taxes and transportation costs, will force a great many wholesalers out of business, according to the Council.

The Council also pointed out that the responsibility for collecting federal sales taxes will be shifted from about 60,000 manufacturers to more than 100,000 wholesalers, adding to the complexity of the collection process, and contributing to leakage during the change-over.

There can be no doubt that the net result of this new policy will be an increase in the price of consumer goods, and it is also evident that the government is engaging in still another tax-grab without any thought as to the long-term effects on the consumer index.

Kinette Korner

Submitted by Linda Pentney.

Minden Kinettes hosted the Zone C curling bonspiel November 14 at our new curling facility. Teams from Minden, Bobcaygeon, Bancroft, Peterborough, Lindsay, Warkworth, Cobourg and Brighton, attended the fun.

After some hot toddy and a visit the teams hit the ice for the first rounds. The teams seemed evenly matched with experienced and new curlers, everyone giving it their best.

Next came lunch of homemade soup and sandwiches and the bar was opened for refreshments.

Following lunch came the next round of curling and the Zone C cup challenge. The race was on, with one girl from each team trying to get a stone in the house, when this was accomplished another girl from the opposing team had to remove it from the house and the first one upstairs to sing the Kinette song was the winner. Bobcaygeon won the contest over Bancroft and now are the proud parents of the C Cup.

The Bancroft rink won the Bonspiel receiving the trophy and gifts. Warkworth came second with Lindsay close behind for third. Brighton came through for their club and brought home the boobie prize.

Dale Walker from Minden went home smiling with the draw prize of wine and cheese. After the last aching muscle left the ice we all sat down for a delicious roast-beef dinner prepared by the members of the curling club and again they did a terrific job for their first event.

Jerry and Herb were back on the bar following supper and we enjoyed a visit before calling it a day.

P.S. We hear Peterborough are already making plans for next year's bonspiel. Try to attend - you will really enjoy the day.

Repaving approved

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications will be going ahead with the resurfacing of Highway 503 and 121 in the Kinmount area, according to a press release from Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins.

The representative stated that the study of the reconstruction has been completed. The MTC plans to repave approximately three kilometres of highway 503 and seven kilometres of 121 south of Kinmount.

The MPP also announced plans for reconstruction of the Highway 48 and 35 intersection. "Modifications at the intersection in Cobocok are much needed and this will result in safer turning movements and a continuous flow of through traffic," Eakins commented.

The representative noted that while highway construction across the province has decreased in the past year, the activity in his constituency is increasing.

Art gallery tea planned

A special tea will be held this Saturday at the Minden Cultural Centre for individuals interested in helping with the operation of the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery. The social afternoon is being sponsored by the Art Gallery Committee.

According to committee spokesman Margot Ziorjen, the purpose of the tea is to acquaint the public with the gallery and to recruit volunteers to help run the facility. "We are looking for people with a little time to donate so the gallery can be opened at regular intervals to the public," the tea organizer stated. She said the committee hoped to establish a regular schedule for the gallery to give the general public an opportunity to view the works in the collection.

The organizer is also seeking several volunteers who would be interested in serving on the Art Gallery Committee. Those with an interest in the project are invited to attend the tea and find out more about the committee's work.

The tea is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., Saturday, November 28 in the common room at the new complex.

Mrs. Ziorjen has also noted that groups or individuals wishing to reserve the common room at the centre for various functions should contact her for reservations. They are invited to call 286-1216 for more information.

Regularly scheduled games for the Novice team were cancelled this week.

Saturday's game with Woodville was postponed.

First period: Boyle scored for the Atoms from Mike Hughes; Robbie Ackersblade scored for the Novices on an unassisted effort.

Second period: Atom goal by Joey Boyle, unassisted; Novice goal by Robbie Ackersblade from Oliver Greer; Atom goal by Justin Gentle from Boyle, then Gentle again from Tom Northgrave.

Third period: for the Novice team, Robbie Ackersblade from Kevin Buchannon and David Lee; Atom goal by Tom Northgrave from Boyle and Mike Hughes; and Novice goal, Kevin Buchannon from Ackersblade and Jamie Dollo.

Pee Wee

The Minden Pee Wees were downed 9-2 in a game played Friday evening in Bobcaygeon. David Schell scored for Minden on a pass from John Wells and Trini Elias while the second marker was notched by Gord Wood, unassisted.

Minden is now using two goaltenders, Shaun Best and Jim Riordon. Both are playing their first season with Minden Minor Hockey.

On Saturday afternoon the Pee Wees faced another defeat as they were upset 7-2. Gord Wood again collected an unassisted tally while Tom MacLeod notched the other with assists going to Gord Wood and Corey Davis.

Only one penalty was called in the game, that going to the local squad.

The Pee Wees were playing without four of their regulars. Those who were on hand, did what they could to stem the Little Britain team.

Bantam

The Minden Bantams were defeated 6-3 in a contest played Friday evening in Little Britain. The three Members of the Halls Insurance team, light sweaters, of the Mens Recreational League scramble for the loose puck in front of their own net during a game against the Rockcliffe Foam Blowers Monday evening. The Rockcliffe team managed a come-from-behind 9-5 victory. In the second contest, Hartwick Construction and Home Hardware battled to a 9-9 tie.

Minden markers came from Jeff Howe with assist to Joel Gentle, Glenn Hall from Greg Newell and John Ballantyne, and Newell from Daryl Ward.

The team travelled to Fenelon Falls Saturday and came away with a 2-2 effort. Hall and Newell again were credited with the goal. Howe and Gentle picked up the assists on the Hall goal and Howe again figuring in the Newell goal. Andrew Burk was in nets for Minden.

The schedule

Huskies drop two games

The Haliburton Huskies' winning ways were brought to an abrupt halt this past weekend as the team was defeated in both of its outings. They lost 8-6 to Penetanguishene and were defeated on home ice by Huntsville, 10-6. Tim Davies and Dave Nicholls each scored a pair of goals for the Huskies in the draw assists from Ed Davis and Don Manary on his first Don Manary on his first marker and Davis and Scott Arbuthnot on the second goal. Assists on the Nicholls' goals went to Corey Walker and Ron Yake on both tallies. Other goals for the Huskies came from Kevin Shapiera with assists to Shaun Chapman and Scott Arbuthnot; and Ed Davis from Tim Davies.

The Huskies picked up two goals in each of the periods, however, a five goal effort in the second period gave the Penetang team the edge they needed to carry the game.

Saturday contest

The leading Huskies shared the scoring Saturday evening but were unable to overcome a two goal edge established by Huntsville in the first period, and expanded to five goals in the second frame.

Scoring for Minden were, in the first period: Duff Mitchell from Darrin MacInness; and Corey Walker from Ron Yake and Dave Nicholls.

Tim Davies scored in the second period with assists going to Ron Yake and Scott Arbuthnot.

In the third stanza, Scott Arbuthnot led the scoring for the Huskies, connecting on a pass from Dave Nicholls and Ron Yake. Goals were also potted by Dave Nicholls from Dave Manaray; and Kevin Shapiera from Scott Arbuthnot.

The next games for the Huskies are this Friday evening when they travel to Huntsville to seek revenge for the Saturday loss, and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when they meet Oro in the Haliburton arena.

Tuesday bowling

On Tuesday, November 17, the Dambusters came out of the basement with 91 points. The Road Runners took their place with 89 points and fighting off the Road Runners are the Misfits with 89 1/2 points. The Steamrollers were still in first place with 107 1/2 points but exchanging places were the Troopers with 96 points and the Bloopers with 94 points.

Eva Piper will be hard to catch with a high triple of 739.

The only other triple over 600 was rolled by Gladys Wruth with 630.

REPORTER-EDITOR

THE TIMES currently has an opening on its staff for a reporter who, with experience, will share the responsibilities of the editor. The individual should be a self-starter, preferably, but not necessarily, with a journalism background. We require someone with an understanding of municipal government, able to use a 35 mm camera (we provide the equipment) and a general interest in the various facets of the community. The individual should have a good command of English, be able to type and have transportation. The pace of work can be hectic at times, but it is almost always interesting and rewarding for the individual willing to make the effort.

Applications will be accepted in writing only. Please indicate acceptable salary range. Write:

Hunt camp proposal questioned

A change in the regulations regarding taxes paid on hunt camps is being questioned by Haliburton County Council. The matter was raised at the November 18 meeting when a letter from the Ontario Ministry of Treasury and Economics was read.

According to the letter, the collection of taxes for hunt camps located on Crown land is to be transferred from the municipality to the province. The provincial government will pay the taxes to the municipality when they are due and then collect the amount owing from the hunt camp owner. At the moment the municipalities bill the hunt camp operators directly.

Warden Murray Fearrey wondered why the province was requesting the change when there appeared no obvious reason for it. He suggested that the province was seeking another lever for eliminating tenants from Crown land.

The camps, some established many years ago, are located on Crown land through a lease agreement between the tenant and the Ministry of Natural Resources. The lease gives the tenant the right to erect a building. The lease does not confer any property rights except on the land on which the building rests. The municipality is permitted to levy taxes on the building alone.

The county council suggested that more information be obtained about the proposed change in procedure before reacting officially to the proposal.

Minden W.I.

The meeting of Minden Women's Institute was at the Common Room on November 18th with a few members present. After the usual opening, Mrs. Clare Brown asked for the Roll Call regarding ancestors.

A letter was read from economist Christine Duke-low, regarding 4-H achievement days.

A full and interesting report was given by Mrs. Sears as she had attended Area Convention as Federated Board Member for Victoria East District.

It was decided that the Christmas Gift exchange should be value of one dollar and members may bring a gift as well for their Secret Pal. This Christmas Party will be at the United Church Hall on Wednesday, December 16th at 2 p.m.

The Card Report was that 25 cards were sent with Mrs. Coulter bringing this report. Collections for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken.

Mrs. Jim Grant, Convenor of Citizenship and World Affairs, read a very interesting talk which dealt with Ontario's Role in the new Constitution and this really made everyone think. All joined in their appreciation.

The ladies of the Committee served a delicious lunch and a social half hour followed.

Lines from Lutterworth

Hi! Another one of those weekends. The men glued to the t.v. set. It wouldn't be so bad if there wasn't all that yelling and carry-on. At least the Grey Cup is over and all we have to contend with now, is the hockey games Saturday nights.

Visiting with Ken and Jeanne Bowron, over the weekend, were Ken's cousins, Mr. Stan Watt from Oshawa and Mrs. Cicely Thompson and her daughters Shelly and Betty all from Bowmanville.

Anne Dunsford spent a week visiting her daughter Sandy in Toronto. Frank and Lisa went to pick her up on the weekend.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Elsa Seurete is in hospital. Sure hope to see her up and about soon.

Our prayers and sympathies go out to the family of Mr. Frank Bowron, who passed away Friday afternoon.

Also condolences are sent to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hughes and family whose daughter Joan passed away Saturday.

Don't forget all my Junior Horticulturists. Our last meeting for the year will be Tuesday, December 1. So let's have a good turnout.

Hint of the Week
To eliminate windshield freeze-ups when parked outdoors place your rubber floor mats over the windshields. Secure the mat with the wipers. You will save yourself the chore of scraping.

The Brubachers came to us again Sunday night. They wanted to be with us one more time before they took their flight. They sang a duet for us. We had a social time together. We were hoping for their journey they would have nice weather.

I said to him how much they would be missed. He put his arm around my neck and gave me a kiss.

Monday morning it was fun and fitness once again. We always seem to have more ladies than men. We watched a real nice movie Monday night. The Voyage of the Humming Bird, it was a lovely sight. Then before we had a chance to view the next nice scene, something went wrong with the con sarn machine.

Poor Doris had to twist and turn with this and that to fuss, I was afraid any minute she would start to cuss. Now since the blame machine was acting so contrary, we turned on the T.V.

and watched Little House on the Prairie.

Tuesday Rev. Miller took the service here. It's nice that he can slip across because he lives quite near. He spoke on adoration, compassion, thanksgiving and supplication. He gave us a very good explanation.

Our girls came again to sing and play for us something. They always do without a bit of fuss. We look forward to the time when the Watson Smith trio comes to entertain us, they really make things hum. They play anything from the Cock of the North right down to heel and toe. We thank them for coming to entertain us so.

Wednesday was a busy day up here at the Crest. It was the ladies Christmas Bazaar and it was a great success. Some came by motor cars, others came in trucks. When they'd come and gone again they had left $500 bucks. At first I wasn't certain, but now I have more data. The quilt was won by Eveyln Stata of Haliburton.

I would like to say a word here about our cook, Mark Schell. He cooks us some fine dinners that are really swell. No against this fellow, you just couldn't feel sore, for he nearly always says would you like anything more?

Jack Shaw tells me he's been coming here for fifteen years which seems a long, long time.

He sure knows how to clean and polish floors and really make them shine.

Thursday the ladies from Minden Fatima Catholic Church brought in the lunch today. Mrs. Toos Reid came along to sing for us and play. She sang some good old songs for us, which gave us all a thrill. Especially when she sang "On Mockin' bird Hill". It was nice of you ladies to come and both feed and entertain us. Thank you.

Friday afternoon was sing song time again and Norma Barron came to play. Mrs. Coburn says she's been coming since the opening day. We look forward to the times you come to sing and play. Thank you.

Smile

Nobody ever added up the value of a smile, We know how much a dollar's worth And how much is a mile. We know the distance to the sun The size and weight of earth, But on one has ever told us yet How much a smile is worth. Until next week.

CARD OF THANKS

The Minden U.C.W. wish to thank everyone who made our Christmas luncheon and bazaar such a success - the people who attended, all those who contributed and all those who worked. 11D

The family of the late Harry MacMinn wish to express their sincere appreciation for all who helped us so much during our period of bereavement. To Constable Brian Dunham and the Minden O.P.P., thank you for your help and guidance, The Kinmount Legion Members for their service, Rev. Douglas Miller for his kind and helpful message and to the ladies of the Thursday afternoon card group and for the lovely lunch provided following the funeral service. To everyone who helped so much a mere thank you seems inadequate. A special thank you to Gordon Monk.

Gordon & Marjorie MacMinn & family

Thankyou to the many ladies who attended my Avon party which was held on November 12th. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Dale Toye, Mrs. Carolyn Redner, and Mrs. Ruby Johnson. Thanks for making it a success.
